Get 2 Million

Last Tuesday, /soy/ was moving at a breakneck speed and reaching record users, all to claim the prestigious post 2 million. Soyteens across the website held their breath in anticipation for what phrase or image would be immortalized in sharty history with this post. Several factions pushed for gems and coal alike including cobson, various IAS gems, brimstonejaks, zellig, pepe, f*oge, squirrels, and many more. The soyteens argued amongst themselves about who deserved post 2 million and lamented what NAS vantablack niggercoal would probably get it. The post rate accelerated faster and faster as 2 million approached. /soy/ only barely managed to stay alive as soyteens flew past it. When everyone realized their post was not the get, they frantically searched the catalog for it. To the dismay of nearly everyone, post 2 million was stolen by a furry sex pest posting videogame dog porn. Specifically, a NSFW image of the character Temmy" from Undertale.

(Soyteen poll of what they thought get 2mil would be...)

The get was met with cope and outrage. Almost right away, soyteens blamed the steal on /trash/ and performed a disjointed raid on them. Being a hellhole shit board with autistically active jannies, it was mostly ineffective. Others complained about bots spamming the website. Several threads were created solely for the purpose of accelerating post 2 million reach multiple thousands of replies. While the artificial posts and forced spam left a sour taste in the mouths of many, it is not against the rules, leaving soyteens to question them.

A small amount of soyteens called for post 2 million to be deleted, but understandably, jannies refused to remove the historical post. With the post right before 2 million being art inspired by a squirreljak, squirrel posters asked if the real get is six 9s rather than six 0s. While cope, the quality of the posts preceding the million posts have been of a higher quality.

ERDOGAN SITE

While a tragic, /soy/ bounced back to normal activities within the day. As important as good gets are, /soy/ being more active is an even bigger victory. To quote Kuz, "It took just a week short of 2 years for us to reach 1,000,000 posts on /soy/, but only 4 months for it to reach its 2,000,000th post. Time goes by so fast!... here's to another million posts, it'll go by real quickly" . Better luck on 3,000,000 soyteens.

The Return of /incel/

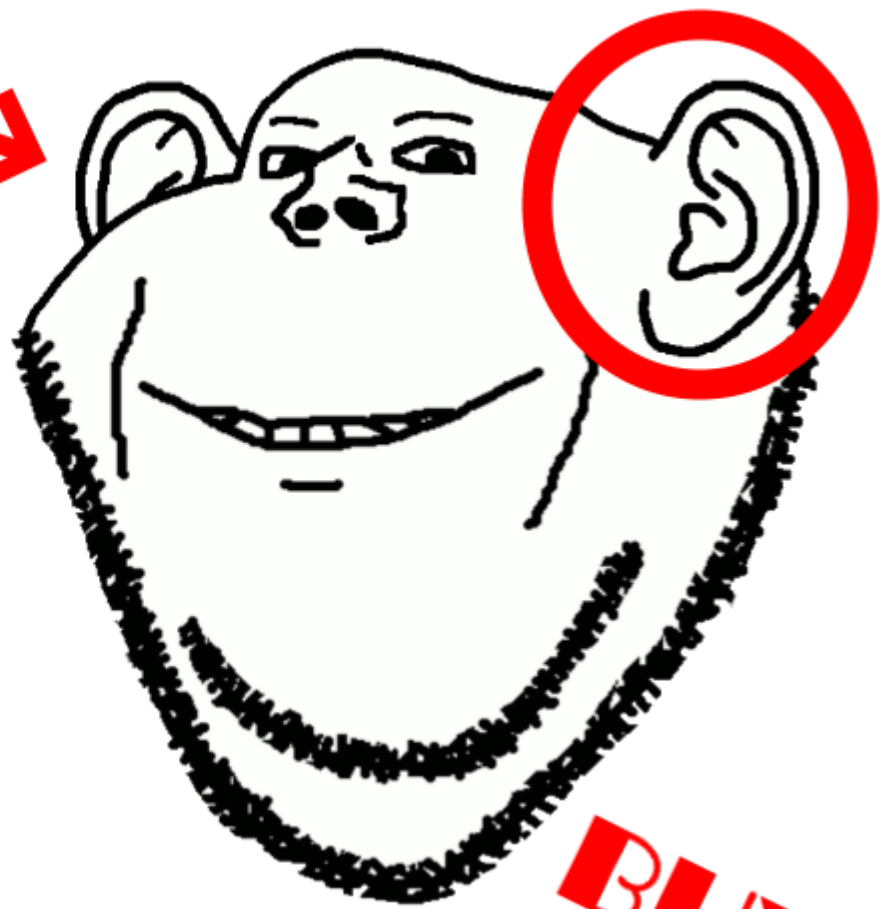

In response to many of the complaints raised during the stealing of get 2 million, /incel/ was reopened to help answer them. While furry porn ultimately would claim post 2 million, there were many other degenerate factions aiming for it. This included pictures of naked black men, tranny memes, NAS coal with nothing to do with sharty culture, and even 'p. Even before the race to 2 million heated up, these groups had been plaguing the board. With the reopening of /incel/, there has been a noticeable improvement. Even with this though many are still discontent with the state of the board. Further actions including the recent banning of pepe from /soy/, have been met with praise and disappointment.

Gem Thief

While many antagonistic forces to the sharty are on /soy/'s doorstep, a more sinister enemy to has slowly crept into view. Gem thieves!... On various websites including reddit, twitter, and Ifunny, gems are stolen from the catalog and the booru and without their original context or intention reposted for the amusement of goycattle. But why does this matter to us? Perhaps people are reaping what we have sown, but how does that actually affect us? Look back to pepe and wojak. Both of which had their roots in places like 4chan and had their own unique origins and culture, until they were exposed and stolen by the wider masses. Wojak variants like the doomer were spammed by edgy transexuals and pepe became nothing more than emotes in the chats of FBI mind control twitch streamers. Will you really still want to post feraljaks and cobson when for everyone genuine post of them, there are a hundred more used to express the "trans experience" or something along those lines? Even worse, perhaps a number of those reddit users will do their own research and trace them back to the source! The sharty's growth has become more rapid over the months, but it still has been mostly natural. When hoards of twitter and reddit immigrants come here, bringing their cultures and psyops, the website may become just as bad as 4chan. Some soyteens have taken it into their own hands and have made efforts to dox and harass the major perpetrators. Others view it as a natural course of events that may even come to help the sharty grow in a healthy manner. Should we focus on building up our borders or staying ahead of the curve with new variants and less PC edits?

An Eye for an EYE

A big victory for /soy/!
After disrespectfully calling the sharty a “wojak forum”, a group of heroic soyteens have doxed the disgusting tranny.

I'm censoring it because I was told to, OKAY?!

SMUGJAK

It may not be gem of the year material, but it may be here to stay! Smugjak! Originally traced from the Megamind character Titan, this gem has been met with little resistance. Many soyteens are already calling it the first gem of 2023.

Are any of these you? First off go fuck yourself, I'm trying here. But also, I have good news for you! YOU can help make the Magazine look better and maybe publish on time! Head over to /g/ and go into the Soyteen Digest thread. There you can offer to help or even make your own articles. That's right, you too can make your retarded opinions known to the sharty!
