

Hi, Dapper again. I was given information that proves Near was not the anonymous reporter, but it was a user named Cosmo. If the name doesn't ring a bell, dont worry, i dont blame you. If you're active on utau twt, the name "Cornball" might be more familiar to you.

This user had been harassing not only kenzie, but myself and plenty others in the community for months. They sent strawpages to just about everyone i know, they made burner accounts to spy on the IDOLOID discord server, they claimed that every single one of my friends were groomers and a danger to myself and other minors in the community, without showing any proof, etc.

Back when they first messaged me in september they showed "concern" that i was being groomed. I asked them a million times for proof or a reason why they think that, and never received a real reason. The one thing they brought up was they claimed SicklySiren's utau Siren was a FETISH CHARACTER. So deadass. And their reason? Because of the joke that siren stuffs his bra with oranges...?

I wish i could show you screenshots of our conversations from back then, but a majority of their messages were sent as voice memos and not text. All of our past messages are gone since i blocked them and deleted the dm. This user was up everyone's ass and claimed they were conducting "social experiments" on the community. I really have no words to describe how i feel.

This was the account they messaged me with. VVV

I want to apologize to Near. I may not be completely fond of them, but we made a mistake. I went by what I had been told, and Kenzie wasn't aware that this was who reported her. Near was not the reporter. It was @ literal_roach (aww, fitting name!)

I messaged Near privately apologizing and will do my best to fix this mistake. I have alerted Kenzie and she is aware too. She is working on her apology as well. I'm incredibly stressed at this revelation...

As for Cosmo, YOU are a huge fucking piece of shit. You aren't some saving grace in this community, Just as your name suggests, your'e a roach who doesn't know how to stay in their fucking lane. I told you time and time again to just leave us alone and to worry about yourself, and you refused. You don't have care for minors in the community like you claim. You are actively endangering them. Please get off the internet. Don't contact me or my friends again. Fuck you.

I will probably have to let myself breathe after this to focus on what matters in my real life and get myself back on my feet. All of the support has been lovely. Either way, i want everyone to continue their support for kenzie, and the minors in this community as a whole. Protect trans kids. Thank you for reading.