Summary

All Might decides to take a quick lunch break at a local diner while patrolling Musutafu, but things go wrong when he carelessly leaves his meal unattended

This story includes stuff such scat desperation, detailed mentioning of sharts and farts, queer mentioning and muscle worship, if any of those things make you feel uncomfortable feel free to scroll away, all characters are used are 18+

“Boy I sure am hungry!” All Might said to himself as his stomach growled in hunger, he'd been called to help with patrolling the city along with some of the other pros such as Hawks and Endeavor. A very dangerous villain broke out of the community jail so they needed all the power they could get, which meant an early and long morning for them all.

“Yo guys I'm gonna go take a quick lunch break then head back to the school to report everything to Aizawa” All Might said to Hawks and Endeavor who were standing with him on top of a building.

“Alright thanks for coming out to help us, this villain has been a pain in the ass for weeks” Hawks said waving goodbye as All Might flew away. He usually likes to dine at a fancy restaurant for his lunches but he went with a nearby diner instead to save him some time. He walked through the door and instantly everyone recognized him.

“Wow it's All Might! He's even bigger in person!”

“Damn his ass is like two giant melons! Is it even real?!”

“Oh my god you HAVE to let me squeeze those pecs! Just for a few seconds please!”

As he tried to make his order he got comments like these from multiple fans who all wanted an autograph, he smiled and made small talk with them all as he loved meeting fans, he eventually reached the front counter and made his order, two burgers, a large fry, and a large strawberry milkshake. He sat down at an empty table to go on his phone to see if he could track the villain, he didn't even notice a pair of eyes staring at him intensely.

“Order 198!” a server called out, All Might realized that it was his order number but took a few minutes to get up and get it as he was still focusing on trying to track down the villain.

“Alright I'll enjoy this meal quickly then get back to work” All Might to himself as he took a huge bite of his burger, a guy in a black hoodie a few tables away from him snickered to himself.

All Might finished the meal and hurried out of the diner before more fans found out he was there, however while taking off to head back to UA his stomach growled loudly.

“That's weird, maybe I'm still hungry” All Might thought to himself, but the growling slowly turned into a stomach ache, and the stomach ache made him very gassy.

He farted and burped the rest of the trip to UA, he obviously came to the conclusion that something he ate from the diner wasn't agreeing with him and he would need to toilet, so he headed straight for the bathroom as soon as he made it through the doors, but unfortunately for him his star pupil Midoriya spotted him and insisted for help with some classwork, before he knew it he was sitting with Midoriya at his desk in his dorm.

The need to relieve himself was overwhelming, like a tidal wave of pressure and urgency. It felt like all the muscles in his lower abdomen were clutching tightly, and he couldn't deny the feeling any longer.

All Might knew he had to help his favorite student, but the nagging need to use the bathroom was pushing its way to the front of his mind, demanding to be dealt with first.

All Might's face was starting to sweat a bit. He tried to focus, but the pressure in his gut was becoming too much to ignore. His stomach was protesting loudly, and All Might could feel a growing need to unload. He shifting awkwardly in his seat, trying to find a comfortable position to ease the pressure in his backside. His sphincter was clenching and unclenching, as if it was begging to be relieved.

All Might could feel his body begging him to go, but he had to hold back for a little longer. His backside was starting to feel very warm and uncomfortable. He could feel gas bubbling inside his gut. All Might clenched his muscles together, willing his body to keep holding it in. All Might felt a sense of annoyance. He was already desperate and feeling uncomfortable, plus he never liked being interrupted. His student's cheerful expression didn't help either. Damn it, why does he always have to come in at the worst times?! All Might grumbled in his head. Without warning All Might let out a fart that rivaled a steam whistle, Midoriya was shocked!

Before All Might could say anything and his body gave in, his ass cheeks unclenched and the damn broke, liquid shit poured out of him and spilled all over his underwear and suit, there was so much of it some of it got on the chair was sitting on and dropped down the floor.

Completely embarrassed, All Might apologized to Midoriya for what he had just saw and quickly made a dash for his house to go change, and that's why from now on All Might never leaves his food unattended.
