STAR WARS

How Jango got his clone

Tango felt was used for cloning by the humans

But apart from his usual pay Tango felt demanded only one thing in return clone for himself!

Yes, and no growth acceleration, or tampering with the structure

A kid the clone was sent to him.

I to here at last. I thought they were going to get any away.

Seeing as there was no growth acceleration or tampering with the structure the clone would seem human and that's just how jango wanted it.

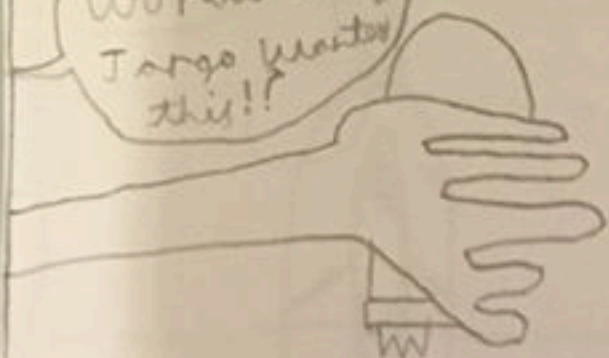

Also seeing as he had no wife he had no children so the clone would seem like his own son.

EH! this isn't like mummy's stomach!

But Jorge was always of on missions so he had to leave the Admirals in charge
of his clone.

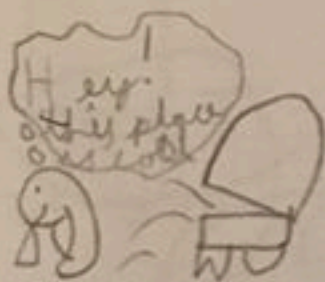

Wonder why
Jorge wanted
this!?

And over the years the clone got bigger and bigger until it was too big for the emblem.

So they had to let it
out

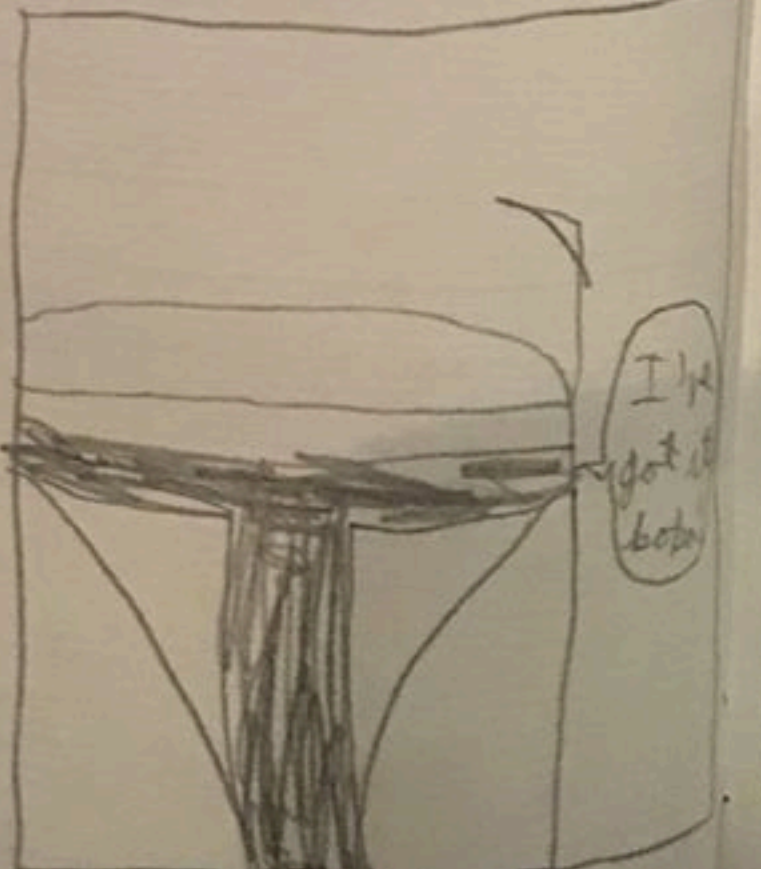

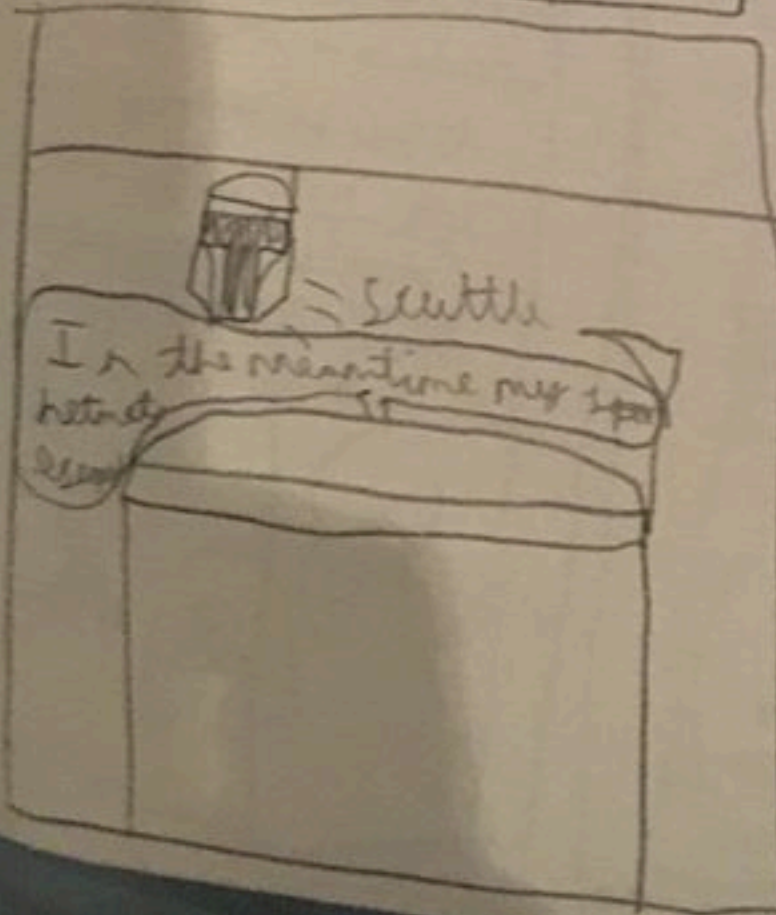

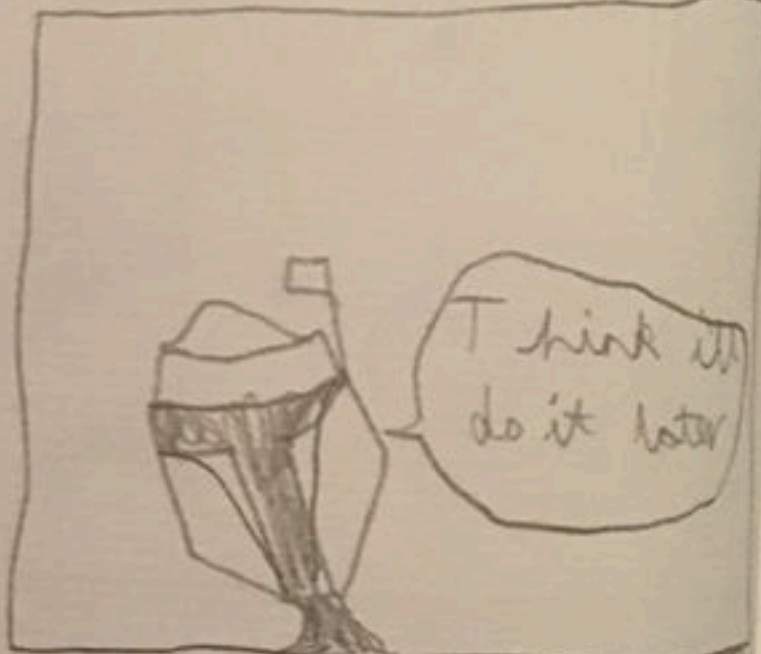

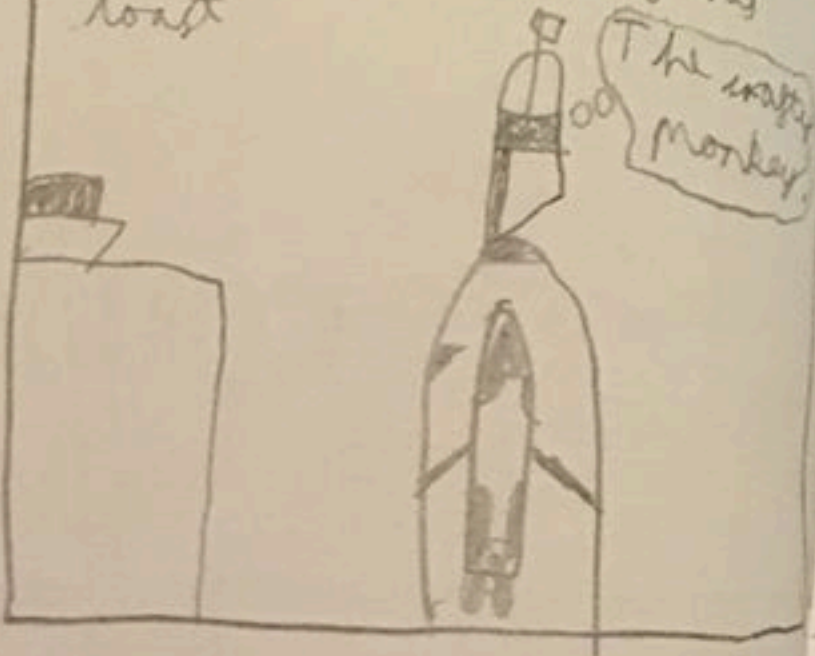

Then there was no
need for the emblem so
they got rid of it

because Jorge was
in such a hurry
that he left the chone
unsupervised, but the chone
behaved apart from eating Jorge's toast!

When Jorge got back he found that somebody had taken a bite out of his toast

So boba it was!

Tango had to teach boba things.

I ty a piece of toast

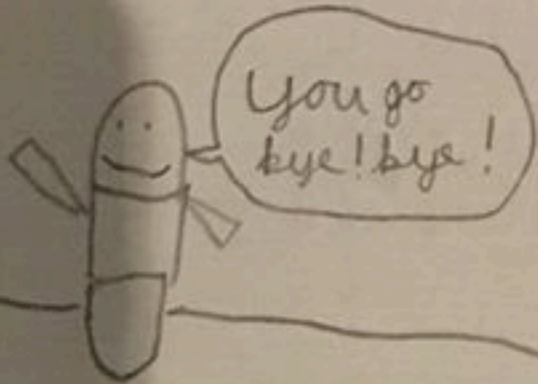

I ty a piece of toast!

This is me!

This is me!
