Your audience is getting restless.

We'll do a "whitebox" stream today.

Raymond, show your brother what to do.

Y...yes, Father.

And live in 3... 2... 1...

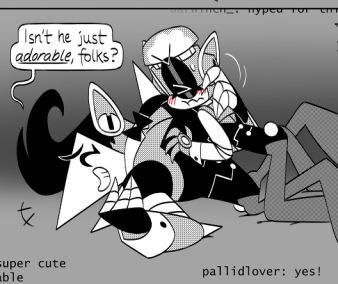

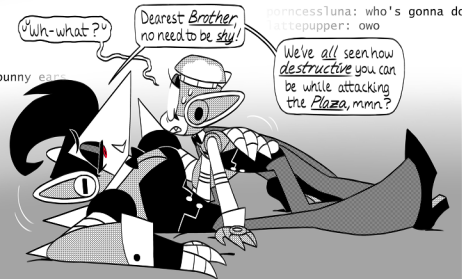

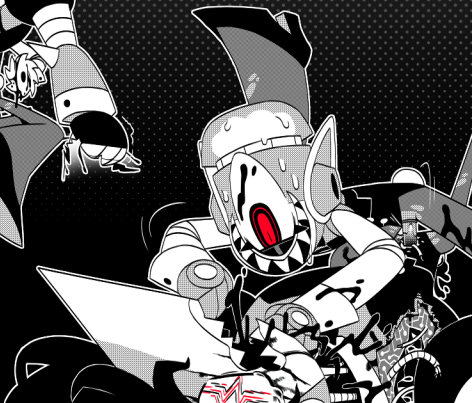

Hello, lovelies ~

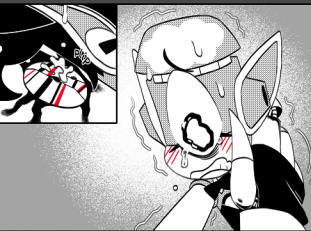

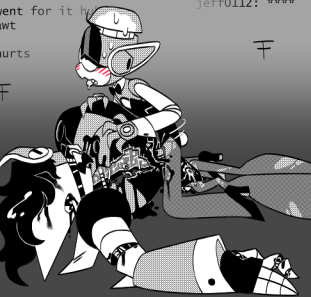

We have a special treat for you today!

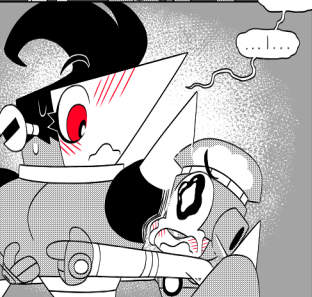

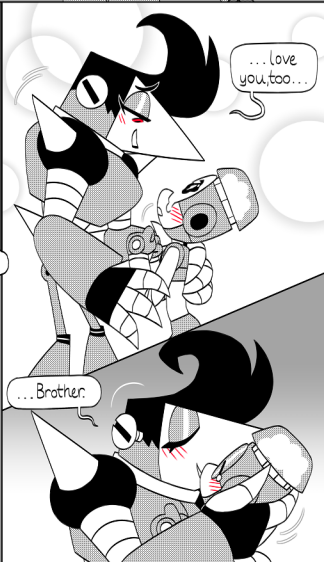

I'm sure you're all eagerly awaiting my little brother's violent debut, yes?

Author's Note

well, here we are again. Thank you so much for reading REC--I sincerely hope you enjoyed it! I certainly enjoyed working on it... for 57 days straight!!! I'm really proud of what I've accomplished this time around.

Now, about the story... the premise is loosely based on a roleplay AU between myself and my friend Andy! The specifics vary wildly, but it was centered around Raymond running a camshow, too.

Initially, I had figured Venomous would be the one to encourage/enable this behavior instead of Boxman, but at the time, season 2 had just ended, and Venomous was coming across as a lot... nicer. Looking to season 1 Boxman as inspiration, I swapped them, but due to recent developments with the show, I can see that it probably would have been more believable with Venomous. Oh well! That's what happens when you write stories about an ongoing series, sometimes! I'm not too broken up about it. ^^

Speaking of OK K.O. itself, as of this writing (August 18th, 2019), there are only two episodes left. I'm glad I was able to release one more doujinshi before it ended... I don't personally view any of my doujins as canon, but they're all heartfelt love letters to my favorite cartoon. Porn is how I express my feelings about something, after all, which explains why I've made so much for this show!

I'd like to extend particular thank-yous to the folks who made this project possible in the first place: Andy, who was a tremendous help with writing and characterization (and even contributed that darling guest art!), Kos, who saved my sorry ass multiple times with paneling advice, Solt & Gravy for cheering me on along the way, and lastly... I don't expect them to ever see this, but I want to thank the OK K.O. crew for making such a sincere, special, unapologetically cartoony & FUN show. They are all immeasurably inspiring to me, and I wish them the best in the future.

what does the future hold for me, specifically? I have no idea! I don't expect I'll ever stop loving Raymond, though. As always, you can find me on Twitter as @teebzly & @teebnsfw.

Bye for now!

Thanks for reading!
