If they don't feel comfortable doing it, then that's fine. There are tons of other threads where people have documented their experience.

Did you not get the memo from the warning you received from the mods?

i dont understand how warning works. whatever i was just being nice to this guy in my own way i wont stop being myself bc of some stupid unjustified rules london333 said:

yes saying.... do it!... is not helpful

making the ultimate decision should be a time where you are as calm as possible to be successful and not be encouraged by outsiders.

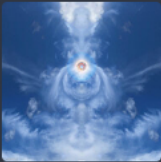

the final decision should be calm and rational as much as feasibly possible yes its helpful if he really want to do it which is the case but fear is maybe holding him back because of SI then encouragements can be helpful.

There's a difference between respecting someone's decision and actively encouraging them to ctb. "Do it!" is suicide encouragement. @Heavenly Pup I can sense your intentions. It has nothing nothing do with "trying to be nice"

Do not message me for sources. Thanks.

Thank you, i think I might find chat a bit overwhelming. I only feel slightly guilty for not documenting the process

I just took 10 mg for anxiety. Thanks for your support everyone. My main two thoughts are:

1. Why did it have to come to this?
2. I really, really hope this works.

I was just about to take it, when I checked my 'do not disturb' sign was outside my door. It was, and also all of Maintenance people were there. Damn.

How long can I keep the SN dissolved in the glass while its still active? How quick will it stop working?????
Will go to Chat.

Hopefully they leave soon?? I don't want to attract attention by checking a lot

It should be fine. @crystalskies31 please don't do something you're uncomfortable with or not ready for.

I'm ready for SN.

I don't want to be found though. It would be pretty dumb to take it with ppl right outside.

Maintenance people? OK

That is why it is a risk doing it in the daytime as hotel staff can interrupt.

But it is still your decision on what to do as you are there to judge the situation

Well, I've mixed the drinks now.
Any ideas how long to wait?

Options are turn on tv and try it now
Or wait til later (although the SN is in glass etc and I'm hungry)
I personally feel better doing it in morning (now)
But ppl are there

In terms of how quickly you should drink the mixed sn drink... i have seen some people say a few hours..... others say a day or two..... but really not sure to be honest

I have read that once prepared you have to keep it covered. Find something to cover it. keep calm and don't do something you don't want to.

Is it ok to wait a few hours, even after drink is mixed?

guys yall are litterally doing the inverse thing as me "dont do something ur not ready" "please dont" basically yall are encouraging to NOT suicide when he clearly need supports not pro lifers holding him back. Tbh acting like this should be as condemnable on a place like this forum. Im sick of fake suicidal peoples acting like pro-life. He is ready, yall think he would have gone so far otherwise? seriously use ur brain peoples.

I don't really care, I just don't want to be found. If this guy is right outside, for ages, it's bad timing.

why dont you kill yourself first before encouraging people to do something you have no clue of what it is gonna be? also encouragement to die is not allowed so read the fucking rules before you post.

Yeah, that's probably a good time.

I don't know if I can wait that long, that's really far away (but of course want to succeed)
