The following screenshots show WonderQueen's views in her social media accounts. Although there are many different aliases, they are all from WonderQueen. They share the same type of content (political, race, gender/sexuality), spelling, and vocabulary (i.e. "folxs", "femme-presenting", etc.).

Restarting on a new account. Same name for @monstrephilia. I ain't escaping peoples blocks/mutes and stuff, so please re-block/re-mute me on there if you have to.

I need to restart. Just restart on the follows and pick people from here. I got a lot of fixing to do.

I am not a furry anymore but I work with cons for furries, anime, gaming, fashion and more.

I ain't gonna sit here and not say something. I want a solution, but if I am fighting on it alone, so be it.

I say this because I know I make certain cons nervous when I talk and they try and shut me down. Not any longer. Even if I am the lone voice, I will not stop.

This is Jesus Gonzalez of East Dallas. He's the protestor who was talking to chief Hall. @dallasnews (warning: police popped some gas canisters)

TAKE THIS DOWN! DON'T IDENTIFY HIM! YOU JUST ADDED A TARGET TO HIM!

Jesus gave me his name and phone number. He chose to go on the record. Beyond that, he was following police orders to leave the area.

While I understand that and respect he did that, I do not want him targeted to be dead like those who did the same for Ferguson.

Riots got things changed for people, as it's the only reason or means people are paying attention. When money gets involved.

Reforms need to happen, but that means putting those that will bring it in power.

And I would disagree with you on riots not being an answer myself.

Stonewall.....Riot.
Oakland.....Riot.
Mant others.....Riot.

Stuff was seen then. Stuff was heard then. Silence was activated to be done.

I HATE this. Their Twitter is full of uwu cute furies, one or two generic blm posts, and then anger at the riots like "violence isn't the answer!! :((((("

VIOLENCE GOT THINGS DONE! Violence doesn't always mean killing. Riots get the attention. Screaming doesn't get loud enough. Deaths aren't worth it to them (as you can see with people opening up cities and stuff now).

THIS COUNTRY is a shethole.
